TO SHOW GIRL

FALL RIVER, Oct. 21.—A new and thorough autopsy will be held today upon the body of Miss Amelia St. Jean, the victim of the murder and tragedy of this city. It is necessary before more time passes in the investigation of this atrocious time to ascertain just what caused the death of the comely Woonsocket girl.

The autopsy will be in charge of Medical Examiner Thomas F. Gunguis. He will be assisted by Dr. George B. March, medical examiner of Boston, Dr. W. R. Stinson, the medical examiner of Bristol, who will also be present.

Dr. Magrath has had a long experience in autopsies, and Dr. Gunguis is not taking any chances in the use he is going to make of the body, realizing as he does the legal duty that will follow from it.

The facts about the girl's death are as follows: She was killed by a man named John W. Connelley, who was arrested on the night of the murder. The autopsy will be held at the morgue of the city.

FRAMINGHAM ELECTION, STOCK SPECULATION, STATE POLICE

State police officers and officials of Framingham today admitted that they fear that the $325,000 received from the sale of forged notes of the town during the past seven years has been squandered in stock speculation by the men who conspired to rob the town.

Former Town Treasurer John E. Lombard, who has confessed to forging the notes, says he was hypnotized by Charles S. Cummings, now under arrest, charged with conspiracy and larceny. Lombard denies that he ever received one cent from the sale of the forged notes, and says that he is simply a victim of a conspiracy.

The story of a woman banker stood out strong in today's developments in the case. It was told that Lombard had been playing in the stock market, and that he had been using the money from the sale of the forged notes to do so.

Says Alderman Wrote to Him Soliciting an Appointment on Board of Assessors—Answers Hale's Challenge with Letters.

Mayor Hibbard this afternoon named Alderman Matthew Hale of Ward 11 as the Good Government member of the Board of Assessors who had written two letters to him upon the matter of an appointment in the assessors' department, and further accepted the challenge of Alderman Hale by making public the letters.

In issuing the letters Mayor Hibbard denied that he had made statements to the effect that a Good Government member of the board had offered to sell or trade his vote for the confirmation of Messrs. Richardson and Andrews, in return for an appointment in the assessors' department.

The two letters written by the alderman to the mayor upon the subject of the appointment of Messrs. Richardson and Andrews were dated October 15, 1909. The first letter was dated October 15, 1909, and the second letter was dated October 16, 1909.

GIRDER FALLS FROM BRIDGE UPON TRAIL

A large steel girder dropped from the Huntington Avenue bridge where repairs are being made upon the Boston & Albany road, at Riverside, due in Boston at 8 o'clock today. The accident brought the train to a quick stop, the whistle shrieking an alarm at the same time.

The girder rested one end on the locomotive and the other on the passenger car, and the train's wheels were lifted off the engine's smoke stack. No one was injured.

Men piled the girder away and the disabled locomotive hauled the train to the

FIVE RESCUED FROM FIRE IN SOUTH BOSTON

Five people were rescued from their beds and driven into the street in their night clothes during a nightmare fire which broke out at 10 o'clock last night in the three-story wooden frame dwelling at No. 30 Broadway, South Boston, early today.

All of the inmates were awakened down the stairs and through the halls filled with dense clouds of smoke by Patrolman Jeremiah Mahoney of the Broadway Police Station, a young man who happened to be passing the building at the time.

Patrolman Mahoney was walking along Broadway when he discovered smoke coming through the cracks of the door of the dry goods store on the first floor of the building. He ran to the entrance, where he found the fire burning in the corner of the Broadway store and Broadway street, and he called the attention of the firemen to the building at the time.

He then returned to the burning building and with another young man who had also discovered the fire forced the front door of the building and made their way up the stairs to the floor above, where George Hamilton, his wife, Mary and son, George, were sleeping.

The smoke that was rolling up from the floor below in dense clouds had filled the entire house and was so thick that it could hardly be seen and the members of the Hamilton family were in danger of being asphyxiated.

Patrolman Mahoney awakened the fire and they groped their way down the stairs to the street in their night clothes. The great fire in the floor above, where the Hamilton family were sleeping, was not discovered by the firemen until they had rescued the Hamilton family.

BOSTON POLICE CALLED IN SUIT CASE

Medical Examiner Magrath Aids in Autopsy to Determine What Killed Amelia St. Jean.

probably be discharged on bail. Some of the police said today that they would not be surprised if Hill should tell the jury that he knew about the case before the prosecution got for him. If he should admit anything, it is conceivable that the girl's death, it is believed he would claim that she died through an accidental overdose of an anesthetic.

SHOWMAN HUNTED AS 4TH SUSPECT

By L. R. MURDOCH.

FALL RIVER, Oct. 21.—With the authorities of Bristol County, Mass., at the charge of the case, detectives started today to find the fourth man in the three-man suit mystery.

With "Dr." Frank L. Hill, the man who accused of the girl's death and the detention of her body, and Chandler W. Thibault, who was the first man in the girl's company and who knew of her detention, in custody with Herbert S. Munro, latter charged, who is said to have been the girl to "Dr. Hill" with a handkerchief wrapped in paper on the night of the abduction, the only to tell his story, the Bristol county authorities were today in the necessity of getting the man who was at the bottom of the whole tragedy.

It is known that at the start, the Fall River and Thibault police believed Thibault to be the man. Now that they have had him in custody a week and have nothing but his own story to rely on, they are ready to accept the correct belief and particularly the story of James A. Blaine of West Oxford, published exclusively in the BOSTON AMERICAN, that it was likely a totally different man.

The man wanted, police say, is a "showman"—not a theatrical man. He is a man like the one described by Blaine, who heard Amelia St. Jean's story. Amelia was a tall, dark girl, about 20 years of age, and had a very attractive face. She was a showman, and was very popular. She was a very good singer and dancer, and was very popular. She was a very good singer and dancer, and was very popular. She was a very good singer and dancer, and was very popular.

THEY PLAY ANOTHER LOSING GAME

Copyright, 1989, by American Journal Examiners

Mrs. Pankhurst, whose daughter, Christabel, has been in jail on account of her devotion to the suffrage movement, comes here prepared to like American women and not "to criticise American women as weak and willing slaves of men and as not knowing enough to vote."
